BXS - Large Hunting Ammunition Browning Solid Expansion

The Browning BXS ball is ideal for heavy game. Its monolithic copper construction allows a mass retention close to 100%. It keeps all its energy for a deep penetration even in the most dense game and it guarantees a massive and lethal stopping power. Its polymer tip accelerates expansion to maximize shock impact. Nickel plated bushings resist corrosion and improve loading; it is the promise of a quick shot with the assurance of a stopping power. Thanks to its lead-free construction, Browning BXS can be shot on hunting grounds imposing restrictions on the use of lead.
