For medium or heavy game!

The new Browning BXS Solid Expansion brand ammunition is perfect for use when hunting medium, large and large game (roe deer, wild boar, deer, deer...).

BXS - Browning Solid Expansion long game ammunition

The Browning BXS bullet is ideal for heavy game. Its monolithic copper construction allows mass retention close to 100%. It therefore retains all its energy for deep penetration even in the densest game and it guarantees massive and lethal stopping power. Its polymer tip accelerates expansion to maximize shock on impact. Nickel-plated cartridge cases resist corrosion and improve loading; it's the promise of rapid fire with the assurance of blistering stopping power. Thanks to its lead-free construction, the Browning BXS bullet can be fired in hunting territories that impose restrictions on the use of lead.
